1 data sources

One data set that I was interested in was the Tafostats for competitive smash brothers melee. however it would appear that because of misuse of the data and that the data set has been put behind a paywall. besides that I am interested in finding data sets that relate to legal cases. especially data sets on the outcomes of tort cases. Twitter data scraping can also be interesting though there are not any hashtags currently that I am particularly interested in.

in both cases if you tried to run the command on df1 it wouldn't work as the commands do not know how to work with a non-Spark dataframe.
